To be opened in the City of
SAN FRANCISCO,
On the 30th day of August, 1864,
Under the direction of the Mechanics' Institute,
OF SAN FRANCISCO

The attention of the public is invited to this great display of our skill, industry and enterprise. To explain the objects and benefits of the Exhibition, of the preparations for holding it, and the regulations for its management, a Circular has been published by the Institute in letter form and widely distributed It may be seen at any office of Wells, Fargo & Co., at any Post Office, and at many of the country stores, throughout the Pacific States and Territories.

The various Transportation Companies will, with commendable liberality, transport all articles intended exclusively for exhibition, FREE OF CHARGE; and Wells, Fargo & Co, in like manner, will take charge of them

All articles forwarded should be labeled "For the Industrial Exhibition," and be directed to C. B. PODTER, Agent, and all communications be addressed to

The National Debt Again

A short time since we published an article on the subject of the public debt, and in order to make the matter more plain, introduced the homely illustration of a crop of onions or turnips as equal to the discharge of that debt. The Oregon Arena, true to its traitorous instincts, takes exception to the article, and indulges in twaddle about the number of onions that "our sensitive females would consume in a life time" As in duty bound, this public enemy then proceeds to exaggerate and magnify the public debt, and by a sophistry without any covering, no doubt proves to the satisfaction of its illiterate and wilfully blind patrons that "the debt already equals one third of the real and personal property in the United States" It proves this by misrepresenting the value of property in the Union in 1860, under-estimating it nearly one fourth, and then, instead of honestly stating the amount of the nation's indebtedness quietly and modestly anticipates what it may reach five years later With as much truth and propriety might we estimate the crops raised by the pilgrims, and warn our people against a famine in 1900, because they raised no more than would suffice for themselves centuries ago Such reasoning may do very well for those who, having been raised and fed by the sweat and toil of half brothers in the South, are incapacitated for the manly business of self support, and totally ignorant of the fact that all property, except when [illegible] by slavery, increases in value but the hardy farmer and laborer, comprehending the natural advantages and dignity of physical exertion, would laugh them to scorn The Arena concludes its article thus

> The truth is the country is staggering under the [illegible] and if the war should cease to day, with the [illegible] restored, one third of all property in the [illegible] States would not begin to pay the debt and [illegible] accumulating notwithstanding the burden [illegible] taxation Our ability to pay it is decreasing each day the war goes on. Our shipping interest is [illegible] destruction To illustrate while in 1862 for a certain period the aggregate of United States tonnage entered at United States ports was 316 791 tons, during the same period in 1864 it was 151,[illegible] a decrease of more than one-half [illegible] the men the war has taken from their vocations [illegible] different parts of the country, at least one [illegible] has been destroyed or stricken helpless with [illegible] So far from being able to stand fifty years [illegible] war, just one more four years' lease to the Abolition party will hopelessly and irredeemably bankrupt the nation

Mr Lincoln's friends may resort to sophistry, or even falsehood, to conceal the nation's tendency toward bankruptcy, but it will not do our financial ruin is so apparent "that the wayfaring man though a fool, cannot err therein"

The political capital it seeks to make at the close of the quotation is a key to the whole article There is an abolitionist or a Nigger in the fence If the end justifies the means then traitors cannot be blamed for discouraging enlistments in the North, and seeking by every species of misrepresentation to weaken the power of the Government to put down the rebellion But treason finds no such justification [illegible] the utterance of such stuff is a gross perversion of the principles of Constitutional liberty which should receive the punishment due to treason It is not a matter of much surprise that the aggregate tonnage of United States vessels entering at domestic ports should be lessened when the whole cotton trade is suspended so far as our ships are concerned, the Southern ports closed, and by the piracy of neutral England and Northern traitors, the carrying business is only regarded as safe in British bottoms

In the Boston Transcript of a recent date we find an article on this subject presenting very fully the figures of the matter and exposing the utter unreasonableness of the exaggerated statements to which we have referred. The writer says

> The taxable (specie) value of the property of the United States in 1860 was sixteen thousand one hundred and fifty nine millions of dollars Deducting from this amount the valuation of Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana as well as that of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi North Carolina South Carolina Texas and Virginia the result will be, for the loyal States, eleven thousand million dollars
> The public debt of the United States on May 14th was $1,730,870,950 of which $508 300 350 bears no interest. The following table compiled by the author of a book entitled "The Philanthropic Results of the War," exhibits the amount paid by States, loans, &c, as well as those given by individuals

Amount expended by States, not reimbursed or guaranteed to be reimbursed by the General Government	$10,937 523 59
Bounties, extra pay &c	47,585 060 84
Contributions by cities towns, &c, for raising regiments	34 230 000 00
Bounties and aid to volunteers by towns, &c.	72,750,523 43
State contributions for sick and wounded soldiers	810,041 00
Contributions of States to National defences	18,040,000 00
Contributions of individuals to National defences	1,005 000 00
Private contributions to the care and comfort of soldiers through societies	24 041 855 01
Contributions from abroad	330 140 74
Contributions for freedmen, sufferers in riots, &c	689 044 10

> Making in all the sum of $212 274 259 45—over two hundred and twelve millions of dollars
> This amount, added to the national debt makes a sum of about one thousand nine hundred and forty millions
> If we call the whole debt two thousand millions, it is less than one-fifth of the taxable value of the loyal States in 1861, and less than the taxable value of the property of two States alone—Ohio and Massachusetts—at that time. The whole national debt, on the 14th of May, was not so large, by a hundred millions of dollars as the valuation, on a specie basis, of the State of New York in 1860
> In regard to the actual destruction of capital which the debt represents, we must remember that, leaving out the very large amount which may be considered only prematurely invested in ships fortifications, and military and naval materials a considerable portion of the money remains in the hands of our people in the shape of profits and affects merely the distribution and not the existence of the nation's wealth We will not venture to say how much, from these two considerations alone, would have to be deducted from the debt to get at the amount of capital which has been really sunk in the war
> When the contest began it was estimated that the surplus income of the people of the free States was four hundred millions of dollars a year and there can be no doubt that this has been greatly increased since 1861 The surplus income after all the expenses of individuals have been paid is what enables a people to sustain a war The relation of the interest on the debt to this surplus income, taking it at the estimate of four hundred millions is about one to six, forty seven millions of the interest being payable in gold, and about twenty millions in currency

Statesmen Wanted

Under this caption, the Sacramento Union publishes the following sensible article which though directly applying to California, is not without weight in reference to the whole coast The country is suffering from the weakness here suggested, and every thoughtful patriot ought to consider, in the selection of Senators and Representatives —not how shall we advance local or personal interests but who will most faithfully and with the most ability serve the nation in the day of peril? All other considerations should be cast aside and when they are we shall have statesmen in Congress and a Government worthy of our pride

> A leading journal in the East, distinguished for thorough devotion to the Union cause expresses the opinion that one half the members of the present House of Representatives are unfit for any higher position than Justice of the Peace Harsh as this judgment may seem to those who did not watch the progress of the late session nor mark the manner in which questions of vital importance to the nation were discussed, its justice is evidently becoming apparent to the citizens of the Atlantic States, who, in making nominations for the next Congress, are seeking men who have something more than zealous loyalty to qualify them for seats in the National councils A body in which a clever lawyer like Thaddeus Stevens of Pennsylvania passes for a financial genius, and a smooth rhetorician like Henry Winter Davis for an oracle upon the subject of our foreign relations is forced to rely upon its dominant love of the Union to secure any degree of public confidence Without yielding assent to a very common and shallow cant concerning the 'better days of the republic' and the great men who have passed away we cannot trace the history of the House without concluding that the majority of that body lamentably failed to reach a decent standard of genuine statesmanship or to impress the country with their ability to grapple with the looming issues of the time The wrangling of a partisan Convention—the painfully elaborate discussion of personal differences and electioneering dodges—an insatiable thirst for the cheap notoriety to be obtained by talking without having words of weight to utter—the ventilation of crude theories of political economy without support from the deductions of science or the results of experience—disgraceful subserviency to a plethoric lobby—a disposition on the part of men unable to discharge their legitimate duties to meddle with the business of the executive branch of the Government—and debate without dignity, information, practical force or the eloquence appropriate to inspiring themes—were characteristic of the first half of the session Owing to ignorant legislation or shameful neglect of duty, the financial embarrassment of the Government threatened to bring on a crisis While the one great necessity of the time was an adequate revenue law, the House spent whole days in discussing the nice point as to who her a Copperhead was a traitor and deserved expulsion for words spoken in debate Thus a lack of character and capacity produced the very evil which a fierce loyalty professed to be anxious to avert The treasury was troubled—the country was alarmed—the cause of treason encouraged—by the perpetual wrangling and slipshod legislation of men who doubtless meant to do what was right, but did not comprehend the necessities of the nation The majority did not begin to work in the right direction nor evince a proper sense of their grave responsibilities until recalled to duty by the thunders of the press It is evident that no amount of experience at Washington will suffice to make statesmen out of many of these Representatives They are simply examples of the kind of men who wriggle themselves up to the surface of affairs during the convulsions of a revolutionary period, and got into high places because public mind is too deeply absorbed by exciting events to discern the difference between brainless zeal and the earnestness which is rendered truly useful to the nation by the guidance of enlightened intellect
> It is gratifying to observe the general desire that the momentous questions which will press upon the next Congress shall be discussed and decided by men who are not only faithful to the glorious creed of liberty and Union, but who have the capacity to draw wisdom from experience and the legislative skill to adapt their measures to the wants of the time The more conspicuous men of the present House have been nominated for re-election but far abler men have been solicited to come forward as candidates in some of the districts Salmon P Chase, it is believed will be the Union nominee in the First District of Ohio, which is now represented by one Alexander Long who should have been sent to Richmond Edward Everett is proposed as one of the representatives of Massachusetts The most influential of Union journals insist that the little men shall stand aside or run for Constable, Alderman, or something of that sort, and not persist in seeking to be returned to Congress to expose their incapacity and victimize the interests of the people And while the loyal constituencies of the other States are taking this sensible course, is it not the duty of California to follow the example? Our Representatives in the present House are earnest, faithful men who do not fill many columns of the Globe, and generally vote in harmony with the wishes and opinions of their constituents We are not aware that they have done anything during their novitiate of a first session which is obnoxious to censure They have sustained the Government and looked after our peculiar interests to the best of their ability. But can it be said with truth that Cole, Higby and Shannon are the strongest men the Union organization of California can find to represent us at Washington? Have we not among us—to be more particular—three men whose influence upon a House disposed to tax the mines would be more decidedly felt than were the unavailing protests of Higby Shannon and Cole at the late session? Is the material for statesmen so scarce on this coast that when mighty issues are to be determined by Congress we must be content to hear that our delegation has voted right and not expect it to sway the votes of others by potential argument? The representatives of the Pacific coast are four in number they should be a host in point of intellectual force in order that our peculiar interests may not be sacrificed by ignorant legislation and that we may take a worthy and prominent part in the deliberations of the National councils If we have three thoroughly loyal men, who possess the energy, the tact the culture and experience to secure and wield a commanding influence in the next House of Representatives, we owe it to California's interests—we owe it to the country at large—we owe it to the hopes inspired by the regeneration of the republic—to nominate and elect such men this Fall

INHUMANITY —We are in receipt of a communication from St. Helens, relative to the brutal treatment of a child nine years of age at that place The parent of the boy is resident in Portland, and refuses to notice the earnest expostulations of ten prominent citizens of St. Helens, and take the child from its present possessor The communication closes with this language "If he will allow his son to be beaten and maltreated he must take him out of Columbia county, for the people of said county will suffer such brutality no longer" In the hope that the father misapprehends the facts of the case, and will promptly do justice to his offspring, we withhold the letter for the present, if he does not, we shall feel in duty bound to give it a place in our columns

A CHANCE FOR IMMIGRANTS —We are informed by a gentleman from Yamhill county that there are thousands of acres of public land on Chehalem Mountain, on the line between Washington and Yamhill counties which would make good farms if settled upon Both timber and range are described as excellent, and the settlers now there are anxious for more neighbors in order to enable them to properly support a good school

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

Dates to August 19.

FORTRESS MONROE Aug 18 —The steamer Connecticut arrived at noon from Deep Bottom with 400 wounded from the battlefield of the 16th belonging to the 2d and 10th corps

The army was comparatively quiet yesterday on both sides of James river

The left wing rests on the north side of James river and holds the position gained on Sunday The right wing has advanced four miles from Malvern Hill in the direction of Richmond Malvern Hill is in our possession Heavy cannonading was heard up the river this morning The result is not really known yet

NEW YORK Aug 20 —The Tribune's correspondent of the 18th from Grant's army says Indications are that an immediate action on a grand scale is about to come off somewhere along our strategic line The marching and countermarching of the divisions of the army corps are such as to make it impossible for any bystander to tell where and when the fight will occur

The Commercial's special says A thorough inspection of fortifications at Washington was made yesterday and proved entirely satisfactory Should the rebel enemy come again this they would find the city in a more effective state of defense than ever before

The reports that certain Republican leaders have made an impression upon the President in favor of an armistice until after the election is unfounded

The Post says Fessenden intends to return to Washington this evening

The terms of the new loan are not yet decided upon It is reported that the bonds will be 20s which are extremely scarce No bonds are more actively in request

The rebel papers have the following

ATLANTA Aug 15 —At a late hour yesterday the enemy attempted to drive in our pickets on the centre Sharp skirmishing ensued but they were repulsed

Desultory firing along the line was had throughout the night and to day A number of shells were thrown into the city

A body of the enemy's cavalry dashed into Decatur this morning and moved in the direction of Cobb's Mill A small force of infantry reported at Decatur Their actions indicate another movement on our right Lively skirmishing is now going on with our centre this morning

The World's Charlestown Va dispatch of the 10th says

The most of our army passed through Winchester yesterday, and encamped to day between Clifton and Charleston The enemy's force is estimated 40,000 infantry and 15 000 cavalry

The Times' Washington special says that the recent simultaneous encounter with the rebels on both banks of the James and in the valley prove that Lee has in Virginia a larger force than was supposed. The report that several detachments of his army were sent to Georgia is not now credited Lee's total force is estimated by our secret service at 70 000

The latest advices from our forces operating against Mobile, show that Fort Morgan is closely invested and at last accounts an attack on the Point was being made

The statement that the Fort had six months provisions is known to be nonsense

Intelligence from the blockaders proves that Fort Morgan is in the habit of receiving supplies for two weeks at a time.

The fall of this work may be looked for at an early day even if no attack is made, and the garrison but simply subjected to the process of starvation

PHILADELPHIA Aug 19 —There is no truth in the reported accident on the Camden and Atlantic railroad

PORTLAND, (Me,) Aug —It is reported that an accident occurred on the Kennebec and Portland railroad, near Seven-Mile Creek, to the ten o'clock train from this city, by the breaking down of a bridge 20 or 30 persons badly injured—none killed

BOSTON, Aug 19 —The bark Alexander, of Harpswell Maine was captured and destroyed on the 15th by the Tallahassee off Monhegan The men who landed at Monhegan reported that the Captain of the pirate said he was a Portlander and wanted to capture Portland vessels

A private letter, dated St John's, N F, the 11th, states that the storm in that section a few night's ago injured the potatoe crop

The weather is unusually cold

The fisheries have proved an almost total failure

Fears are entertained that the poorer classes will suffer greatly during the winter,

WASHINGTON, Aug 20 —Supplies of new 7 30 notes have been sent to the Assistant Treasurers at Boston, New York and Philadelphia to-day This causes no interruption to filling the subscriptions heretofore made

PHILADELPHIA, Aug 20.—Secretary Fessenden has ordered U S Assistant Treasurer McIntyre and Cisco to pay the ten forty coupons due September 1st and the five twenty coupons due November 1st

HALIFAX, Aug 19 —At noon, to-day Admiral Hope sent to the Tallahassee several boats with orders to cease coaling, which were promptly enforced She was taking coal for a long voyage but has less than one week's supply She sails during the night for North Bay It is impossible to ascertain the names of the vessels that have been destroyed

NEW HAVEN, CT, August 20 —The large four story Carriage Manufactory of Durham & Booth was destroyed by fire to day Loss, $40,000, insurance $15,000

WASHINGTON, August 20 —Gen Canby's official report of the operations at Mobile has been received It adds nothing to the reports already published Canby says the rebel ram Tennessee will be ready for service on the right side in a few days

BALTIMORE, August 19 —We have a report this afternoon that a portion of the 6th Corps was attacked last night, but nothing confirmatory has been received

It is stated that the rebels are engaged in destroying the railroad near Winchester

The Herald's Washington special says that the reported movement of General Sheridan in the valley is not regarded as a retreat but a manœuvre for an advantageous position commanding all avenues to the Potomac A reconnoissance now being made will develop the position and strength of the rebels and enable Sheridan to move against them with confidence

MEMPHIS, August 18 —A brigade of infantry and cavalry belonging to A J Smith's command, attacked three brigades of Forrest's command, who held a partially fortified position on Hurricane creek After a short fight the rebels were dislodged leaving 50 dead on the field Our loss was 10, killed and wounded

ST LOUIS, August 20 —St Joseph papers say that Maryville Kansas 90 miles west of St Joseph, was completely sacked by Indians on Sunday last No particulars Statement doubtful

The mail route from Kearny to Omaha is as yet unmolested

Gen Fisk has levied an assessment of $50,000 on the secessionists in Shelby county and $15 000 on Monroe county to repair damages done on the railroad

The United States steamer Narragansett on her late trip to Acapulco when two days from her destined port met with an accident A bolt became detached and caused two piston rods to be bent and otherwise deranged the machinery

The China Mail of June 30th says the 20th English regiment is on the way to Japan to co operate with a battalion of marines now at Yokohama in reopening the inland sea to foreign vessels which has been closed for some time by the Prince of Nagato

On the evening of June 6th, during a severe thunder storm at Manila several buildings were struck by lightning Among which was a Government building stored with tobacco which was burned, to the value of $200,000

DIPTHERIA —The Jacksonville Sentinel says this terrible disease has again made its appearance in the Rogue river valley, and to a considerable extent baffled the skill of the physicians, numbering its victims with those who sleep their last sleep We learn that it is also becoming prevalent in the Willamette valley and too much care cannot be exercised to prevent its fatal termination An application of wet salt to the throat at night is an efficient remedy for light attacks

FOR SALE

The Type and other material used in the publication of the DAILY OREGONIAN will be sold very low for cash The material is all in good order and will be disposed of entire or enough of it to fit out a country newspaper complete

THE BEAUTIES OF SLAVERY —The Philadelphia Press publishes a thrilling description of one of the evils of slavery as given by a soldier of 104th Pennsylvania regiment The scene is four miles north of Pamunky river, at the plantation of Mr Anderson Scott the owner of one hundred and fifty slaves Around the door were three women and about half a dozen children, from the wee baby to the young girl of fifteen or sixteen Two of the women were about a shade lighter than quadroon while all the children were white The third woman was apparently pure white her eyes were blue her hair brown and straight, her features were entirely American—nothing to denote a particle of negro blood In her arms she had a beautiful little boy, about four years old, with fair hair and blue eyes This woman was crying bitterly when we rode up Thinking that she was a member of the family we tried to console her by assuring her that Yankees made war upon men and not upon women Can you imagine how shocked we were when we were told that this white woman and child were slaves and that the degraded mother was weeping for shame at her degradation

I asked one of the women why she did not bundle up and come along, now that she had a chance with the [illegible] She said she had an idiotic son in the house, who was sick and they could not go without him I asked this woman if she was the daughter of the owner of the plantation She said she was! We went into the hut and upon a clean bed there sat this poor idiot boy as white as I am with brown hair At this time Mr Scott came in the lord and owner of all these white people whiter than himself He is an old shriveled up nigger faced crooked backed little specimen of Southern chivalry —aristocrat as a king and a Virginian born I asked the mother of this boy if Mr Scott was his father You should have seen her blush as she answered Yes The incestuous old beast! This idiot son—the child of his own daughter—father and grandfather to his own child!

TO BE ENFORCED —The Police Judge of San Francisco gives notice that he is about to enforce the stringent law passed last Winter entitled an "Act concerning crimes and punishment," passed April 1 1864 It will be strictly enforced The Act provides that when any person is convicted of any offence the Judge or jury shall find whether the offense was done under the influence of liquor and the finding shall be entered on the minutes of the clerk who shall report the same to the County Clerk who in turn shall make a yearly report to the Board of Supervisors of the expense of trial subsistence etc of the parties so convicted The Board shall then make a pro rata distribution of such expenses and add it to the licens of retail liquor sellers —Appeal

The Tax Collectors of Sacramento is collecting licenses from the butchers and brewers who retail lager on the premises—classes of business men who heretofore as we learn, have for some reason or other been exempted from paying the license —Marysville Appeal

Oregon State Sanitary Fair

To the Citizens of Oregon

It is proposed to hold a Sanitary Fair at Salem, during the State Fair commencing on the 27th of September next In view of the urgent necessity of the Sanitary Cause and the briefness of the time allowed to make preparations it is ardently hoped that every friend of humanity and every lover of his country residing in Oregon will respond to this call

We can say to those at a distance, that ample room and shelter will be provided for all their contributions.

In suggesting these committees we presume that some will be unable to act to all such we would say, procure a substitute, and should there be sections of country where no committees have been appointed individuals will please act for themselves, and come to the Fair, and see that their donations are on hand, so that no section of country will be unrepresented

Oregon has heretofore responded nobly to these calls of humanity and now is no time to fall or falter, while every telegram brings the sad news of brave men fallen, and the work of carnage and death still going on shall we, while peace and plenty falls to our lot forget our bleeding country?

To the Ladies of Oregon we most especially plead, knowing full well that if we have their united support success will crown our efforts From every woman in the State we crave some article of handiwork Every description of ornamental work which busy fingered ingenuity can frame in the long list of knitting from a pair of socks to the most elaborate shawl, in needle work, from the baby's bib to the finest dress, in clothing for men women and children let the variety be so complete that no want may be unsupplied Every article of female handiwork that will bring enough to pay for time and material

To the farmers we look for help let your offerings be as generous as your hearts and as a kitchen will be one important feature of the Fair nothing will be amiss, whether it is in the products of the soil, your dairy or your cattle

From the merchant and manufacturer, miner and business man let us have a sample of his wares, or the work of his hands; so that our young State may be fully represented in all her growing wealth and greatness

The County Committees whose names are below, are requested to solicit and receive contributions and arrange for their being forwarded to Salem at the proper time It is desired that the County Committees should appoint subcommittees to aid them in their work, each member or committee recollecting if they cannot act themselves to endeavor to procure substitutes so that there may be neither neglect nor delay in making the necessary arrangements

All organized Sanitary Aid Societies are invited to give this matter their especial attention

THE FUTURE OF OUR MINES —It is probably true that there is no subject at the present time which so much takes up the attention of our citizens, as the future development of our mines We have frequently recurred to the matter of their rapid advancement, and the amount of capital already invested by Portland people in the working of them, and we could spend hours in the same study, but it is not necessary We all know the value that is to accrue to us by the steady increase of the silver mining interests of Oregon and Idaho, and to show some comparison between them and operations in other localities, we need only refer to some of the stock in market at San Francisco, and a few of the lodes now opening here Business in Washoe has been considerably depressed for some time, and the stocks of that country have become a drug in the market, the best claims declining in value, yet the quotations are from $1 000 to $3,000 per foot, while here equally as rich ground is represented in stocks that are held at about $100 per foot. We say equally as rich because it has been so demonstrated, and leading capitalists of this city, who are shrewd enough to see the true value of these lodes are by no means slow to invest. Had the laws of Congress succeeded by which the mines should be taxed 5 per cent. on the gross proceeds, then there might have been millions annually lost by driving men from the business but better councils prevailed and the sums that will be now expended to open and develop the country are by no means easily calculated, and rich results are sure to follow

DISCUSSION ON CITY MATTERS —The board of Councilmen met at the Council Chamber last evening and after the objects of the meeting had been stated by President McCraken, resolved itself into an informal session and entered upon discussions relative to the new City Charter The members and a few citizens talked the subject over pretty freely and the strong desire evinced seemed to be the one aim, that in future there be no further complaint regarding that most important element necessary to our progress, and that we have a good effective charter We can see no objection to the instrument just submitted by the City Attorney, but for the benefit of the city at large perhaps an exchange of opinion may be thought necessary, and in the end let us hope that the document may bring us relief We have long felt the need of something in this city to allow us opportunities for going ahead [illegible] may be that the privileges will be obtained in [illegible] making the year one to be remembered in all future time The discussion last evening indicate the [illegible] will be the case The clause relating to the [illegible]provement of streets was made the special consideration of the evening Further action will be taken on Thursday evening

AN UNFORTUNATE FAMILY —Something over a year ago an old gentleman with his wife and children started with their stock of worldly goods from one of the Western States to erect a home on the shore of the Pacific Their trip was not very fortunate but they finally arrived and settled in one of the southern counties of California The drouth of the last season proved disastrous to them and recently they started again for Oregon On the road a married daughter [illegible] careful nurse and proved to be its dear old grandmother [illegible] provisions were [illegible] little money they [illegible] near Jefferson and [illegible] of the family [illegible] [illegible] of those who [illegible] ability to reward [illegible] be regarded [illegible] our good people [illegible] may overtake [illegible] kindly acts, upon one so justly bestowed bring [illegible] own reward Persons desiring to do are [illegible] now have an opportunity

BADLY BURNED —A farmer left his [illegible] buggy on Washington street yesterday [illegible] of a plumber's fire who was [illegible] across which the horse [illegible] into it itself, screaming [illegible] flesh badly The accident [illegible] the harness in hitching the [illegible] taking a turn around the [illegible] of the wheel [illegible] every revolution, [illegible] the vehicle [illegible] bringing the horse back with a strong chest [illegible] think in lieu of hitching posts, that system [illegible] recommend itself

A DEAD INDIAN —The steamer Wilson G Hunt brought [illegible] last evening the remains of [illegible] which was in charge of a [illegible] the way to Champoeg The [illegible] a remarkable trait in the [illegible] around us who frequently pay [illegible] farthing to give them a burial on the [illegible] ground even though the storms of winter are facing their destitute condition

NO AFFECTION OF JOHN —It is often a matter of amusement to watch the [illegible] of [illegible] stable runners, upon [illegible] of the [illegible] boat from the Cascades manifests toward returning veterans of the mines to give them comfortable lodgings square meals and [illegible] for their [illegible] The only class of travelers exempt from the raising of runners appears to be the Chinese, who pass uninterruptedly to any part of the city with no protection offered them except their own cunning utterly disregarded by the masses

REMOVING CLACKAMAS DAM —The People's Transportation Company yesterday set a force of hands at work to remove the dam across the Willamette river channel, at Clackamas rapids The dam has been considered an obstacle to navigation instead of a benefit, as was expected at the time of its construction and the removal of it is thought to be sufficient to permit such steamers as the [illegible] to pass at all seasons of the year from Portland to Oregon City

A SCRIBBLE —The Boise News acknowledges the receipt of a pamphlet bearing the title of "The Loud Voice and Everlasting Gospel, by Leonard B Vickers, Angel of God, Portland Oregon" In commenting on the work the editor says "It emanates from high authority, but tha the Angel of God should be quietly settled down in Portland is rather strange news, even to the oldest inhabitant who surely could have suspected nothing of the kind.

JEFFER'S CEMENT —The last trip of the steamer from Astoria brought a small lot of Jeffer's Cement which promises to be a staple article of commerce as well as a useful aid to our mechanics It is manufactured from a species of rock that abounds at the mouth of the Columbia, which is burned and ground At present the process is confined to rude inventions but we understand machinery will soon be introduced to do the work

THE WORK GOES BRAVELY ON —A large force of carpenters, workmen, framers, teams, scows, steam boats, pavers, masons etc, render an active air to the operations and improvements going on at the foot of Ash, Pine and Vine streets, on Front

ACCIDENT —A lady living on Second street, Mrs Levy, slipped and fell on passing from her door on Sunday, dislocating one ankle and spraining the other It was a singular case, happening to prove so painful

LOST —The finder of a heavy black walking stick will confer a favor by leaving it at this office The cane was lost by a fireman at the burning of the turpentine works

SHINGLES —The steamer John steamed up to Brooklyn wharf yesterday afternoon and received a large supply of shingles for the O S N Company

THE FUTURE OF OUR MINES.—It is probably true that there is no subject at the present time which so much takes up the attention of our citizens, as the future development of our mines. We have frequently recurred to the matter of their rapid advancement, and the amount of capital already invested by Portland people in the working of them, and we could spend hours in the same study, but it is not necessary. We all know the value that is to accrue to us by the steady increase of the silver mining interests of Oregon and Idaho, and to show some comparison between them and operations in other localities, we need only to refer to some of the stock in market at San Francisco, and a few of the lodes now opening here. Business in Washoe has been considerably depressed for some time, and the stocks of that country have become a drug in the market, the best claims declining in value, yet the quotations are from $1,000 to $3,000 per foot, while here equally as rich ground is represented in stocks that are held at about $100 per foot. We say equally as rich because it has been so demonstrated, and leading capitalists of this city, who are shrewd enough to see the true value of these lodes are by no means slow to invest. Had the laws of Congress succeeded by which the mines should be taxed 5 per cent. on the gross proceeds, then there might have been millions annually lost by driving men from the business, but better councils prevailed, and the sums that will be now expended to open and develop the country are by no means easily calculated, and rich results are sure to follow.

DISCUSSION ON CITY MATTERS.—The board of Aldermen met at the Council Chamber last evening and after the objects of the meeting had been stated by President McCraken, resolved itself into an informal session and entered upon discussions relative to the new City Charter. The members and some citizens talked the subject over pretty freely, and the strong desire evinced seemed to be the one that in future there be no further complaint, regarding that most important element necessary to our progress, and that we have a good, effective, charter. We can see no objection to the instrument submitted by the City Attorney, but for the benefit of the city at large perhaps an interchange of [illegible] be thought necessary, and in the end, [illegible] the document may bring us relief. [illegible] felt the need of something in this city [illegible] opportunities for going ahead, and it [illegible] the privileges will be obtained in 1864, [illegible] the year one to be remembered in all future [illegible]. The discussion last evening indicates that such will be the case. The clause relating to the improvement of streets was made the special order of the evening. Further action will be taken on Thursday evening.

AN UNFORTUNATE FAMILY.—Something over a year ago an old gentleman with his wife and children started with their stock of worldly goods from one of the Western States, to erect a home on the shores of the Pacific. Their trip was not very fortunate, but they finally arrived and settled in one of the southern counties of California. The drouth of the last season proved disastrous to them, and recently they started again for Oregon. On the road a married daughter was laid to rest by the wayside, and her little babe found a careful nurse and protector in its dear old grandmother. The cattle died, their provisions were exhausted, sickness wasted what little they had, and they are now camped near I [illegible] and Ninth streets in this city. The youth of the family are in search of labor, able and willing, and we bespeak for them the kind attentions of those who have labor to let, and the heart and ability to reward it. While they might not desire to be regarded as objects of charity, we hope some of our good people will not forget that misfortune may overtake any dweller upon the earth, and kindly acts, unostentatiously bestowed, bring their own reward. Persons desiring to do a real kindness can now have an opportunity.

BADLY BURNED.—A farmer left his horse and buggy on Washington street yesterday in the vicinity of a plumber's store, who was soldering water pipe, when which the horse backed the buggy and then [illegible] into it itself, scorching the hair and burning the [illegible] badly. The accident was the result of carelessness in hitching the animal, which was done by [illegible] around the hub of the wheel with the [illegible], every revolution, after the vehicle moved, [illegible] the horse back with a strong check. We think, in lieu of hitching posts, that system does not recommend itself.

A DEAD INDIAN.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt brought from the Cascades last evening the remains of an Indian, boxed up, which was in charge of a [illegible] of aborigines, on the way to Champoeg. The [illegible] paid to their dead is a remarkable trait in the character of the tribes around us, who frequently pay out their last farthing to give them a burial in their own ground, even though the storms of winter are facing their destitute condition.

NO AFFECTION FOR JOHN.—It is often a matter of amusement to watch the solicitation of hotel and stable runners, upon the arrival of the passenger boat from the Cascades, manifested toward returned veterans of the mines, to give them comfortable lodgings, square meals, and feed for their horses. The only class of travelers exempt from the harassing of runners appears to be the Chinese, who pass uninterruptedly to any part of the city, with no protection offered them except their own cue, utterly disregarded by the masses.

REMOVING CLACKAMAS DAM.—The People's Transportation Company yesterday set a force of hands at work to remove the dam across the Willamette river channel, at Clackamas rapids. The dam has been considered an obstacle to navigation, instead of a benefit, as was expected at the time of its construction, and the removal of it is thought to be sufficient to permit such steamers as the Rival to pass at all seasons of the year from Portland to Oregon City.

A SURPRISE.—The Boise News acknowledges the receipt of a pamphlet bearing the title of "The Good Voice and Everlasting Gospel, by Leonard B. [illegible], Angel of God, Portland Oregon." In commenting on the work the editor says: "It emanates from high authority, but that the Angel of [illegible] should be quietly settled down in Portland is rather strange news, even to the oldest inhabitant, who surely could have suspected nothing of the kind."

JEFFER'S CEMENT.—The last trip of the steamer from Astoria brought a small lot of Jeffer's Cement, which promises to be a staple article of commerce, as well as a useful aid to our mechanics. It is manufactured from a species of rock that abounds at the mouth of the Columbia, which is burned and ground. At present the process is confined to rude inventions but we understand machinery will soon be introduced to do the work.

THE WORK GOES BRAVELY ON.—A large force of carpenters, workmen, framers, teams, scows, steamboats, pavers, masons, etc., render an active air to the operations and improvements going on at the foot of Ash, Pine and Vine streets, on Front.

ACCIDENT.—A lady living on Second street, Mrs. Levy, slipped and fell in passing from her door on Sunday, dislocating one ankle and spraining the other. It was a singular case, happening to prove [illegible].

LOST.—The finder of a heavy black walking stick will confer a favor by leaving it at this office. The cane was lost by a fireman at the burning of the turpentine works.

SHINGLES.—The steamer Julia steamed up to Brooklyn wharf yesterday afternoon and received a large supply of shingles for the O. S. N. Company.

Oregonians should test the merits of Dr. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequaled as an invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines, many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs, and of various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand at the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Bitters is the safest of all stimulants. Let the miner who is exposed to hot and dry, wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of the genuine Hostetter Bitter, and he will find it a certain safeguard to health.—Sold by Druggists and dealers generally. jy25daw

Dysentery.—For Dysentery and similar complaints of the Summer season, the PERUVIAN SYRUP has proved a remarkable preventive and cure. By imparting tone to the intestinal mucous membrane, it places this surface in the best possible condition to resist the irritation of crude and indigestible articles of food.

"A Slight Cold," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "SLIGHT COLD" in its first stage: that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief. Military Officers and Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket and taken as occasion requires.

REDINGTON & Co., San Francisco, Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Periodical Headache—so common in uncleared and marshy countries. Tic Douloureux, that most painful affection of the nerves of the face, are often only attacks of ague in disguise—proceeding from the same noxious influence. Jaundice, Dyspepsia and Diarrhea, are frequently but disguised forms of Intermittent Fever. Even Rheumatism and Epilepsy, often result from the same miasmal cause. For such, Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue is an unfailing remedy. By striking at the root of these affections, it applies with equal certainty, as for the cure of Fever and Ague in its simplest forms.
Imitations are abroad! Be particular to enquire for Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue. Sold everywhere.

Summons.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Clackamas.

F. N. Blanchet, Plaintiff, vs. George Abernethy, Hiram Clarke, of the firm of George Abernethy & Co., D. J. Tallant and J. W. Wilde, of the firm of Tallant & Wilde, James K. Kelly, W. C. Dement, F. Holland, Robert Pentland, Defendants.

TO the Defendants, Hiram Clarke, D. J. Tallant and J. W. Wilde. In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear in the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Clackamas, to be held at Oregon City, in said County, on the third Monday (the 17th day) of October, A. D. 1864, and then and there to answer the complaint against you filed in said Court, in the above entitled suit by the Plaintiff above named.

And if you shall fail to appear and answer said complaint, the Plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded therein; and will take judgment against you, Defendant Hiram Clarke, for the sum of $5,800 with interest thereon at the rate of 2 per cent. from the 22d of December, 1860, and will demand judgment of foreclosure of the mortgage given by Defendant George Abernethy upon Lot 2 in Block 1, in Oregon City, in said County against all of the said Defendants.

The Coquette's Fate

"Oh! Nellie, Nellie! Oh! Nellie Nellie"

A tiny party of white hands were raised deprecatingly, and a pair of large, violet eyes sought her face, bearing in their depths an expression of entreaty beautiful to behold; but the proud face of Nellie Raymond turned away, perhaps to shut out that beautiful vision, and a low, trilling laugh ran over her red lips

"Oh! Nellie, how can you be so heartless? How can you lead a man on to believe you love him, and then, when his heart is yours, with all its great, deep fount of manly love and tenderness, laugh in his face, and bid him go from your presence—hopeless, despairing I tell you, Nellie Raymond, you will some day have to account for the misery you have wrought"

"Do you think so?" said Nellie, lightly, "Ah, well!"

"But it will not be 'well,'" said Alice May. "You will see it in a different light some day. I could not close my eyes one hour in peaceful slumber, were my life weighed down with such evil deeds as yours"

"Evil deeds! Really, Alice, you are harsh," exclaimed Nellie, a flush of momentary mortification and anger overspreading her white forehead

"Dear Nellie," said her friend, "what is the use of calling things by other than their right names? If I seem severe, I only tell you the truth, and you know that I have ever been your best friend—candid and frank"

"Well, Allie, you might have a little more regard for one's feelings" said Nellie

"Have you any regard for the feelings of others, Nellie?" asked Alice "There is a good book in which a sublime teacher said, 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you' Now, how far do you carry out this rule?"

"Oh! Allie, spare me for pity's sake—don't preach to me now," said Nellie "I'm not in a mood for it"

But Allie May was relentless

"You did not spare poor George Morton, whom you so cruelly deceived," she continued, "and then drove him from you with despair in his heart, and the burden of a hopeless life. The green sod of an Italian vale covers the heart of one who loved you but too wildly, and whose reward, after months of weary wandering, and a hopeless, pining life, which soon sank beneath its weight of sorrow, is an exile's grave Then there is another—a widow's only son and pride who frets his life away in a madhouse—yes, a madhouse, Nellie, to which your cruelty consigned him Oh! Nellie Raymond, better a thousand times despoil your face of its dangerous beauty than bear the load of sin it brings upon you, for it is fearful"

A slight quiver in the erect frame of the beautiful girl was the sole response

"Poor Walter Mayfield!" continued Alice, sadly, "sometimes I pass the window of the cell in which he is confined, and catch a glimpse of his haggard face, and he always smiles like a pleased child when he sees me. Then I contrast him now with what he once was, and weep in spite of myself over the wreck of a strong, noble life He used to be so pleasant and gay always, but he was strong and self reliant when anything occurred to call forth energy or action Oh! he was a noble, handsome man, but now he is feeble and helpless—a hopeless maniac Poor fellow!"

Nellie's face wore an expression of mingled grief, defiance, and mortification, but she remained silent for a few moments, watching the tears as they rolled slowly over Alice May's cheeks

"And my own dear, only brother, will be your next victim," said Alice, after a pause, looking up sadly and mournfully "Oh, Nellie, he is all I have—I am alone in the world, with him only to love me—spare him to me, for the love of mercy!"

Nellie rose with a hotly flushed cheek and flashing eye

"Allie, how can you talk thus?" she exclaimed "But I tell you, Allie May, if art or beauty can bring your proud, cold brother to the feet of a woman, he shall come to mine. He shall love me"

"And if he does, and you turn him from you, you will kill him," said Alice "Once unbend his proud nature, and unlock the founts of tenderness in his heart, and then cast him from you, and see the consequences. Oh, Nellie Raymond there is sufficient on your soul already Spare yourself, if you spare no other"

The last words were unheeded, for Nellie had swept from the room, and little Allie May bowed her head upon the sofa cushion and sobbed piteously She had warned her brother repeatedly, but he seemed heedless, and with an aching heart the gentle little sister looked forth to a hopeless, desolate life for him who had ever been her all on earth

Several weeks passed away, and little Allie May stood before the altar The man she had chosen was noble, true and good, and for her feet a bright path lay before her, but there was another to whom her eyes wandered uneasily, and who hovered incessantly round the gay butterfly form of the proud syren, Nellie Raymond, whose dark eyes flashed with triumph as the proud man bent his handsome, stately head with such devotion

Allie's sweet lips quivered when she saw her brother bend down and whisper in Nellie's ear, and heard the request that she would walk with him upon the lawn, and the two wandered off

The moon shone brightly, and Edward May, drawing Nellie Raymond's arm within his own, walked slowly down the broad gravel walk, his face upturned toward the stars, and a smile of inexpressible happiness softly wreathing his sweet mouth

"Nellie," said Edward—and he spoke very low and softly—"Nellie, I am very happy to night—happier than I had ever hoped to be, and I want some one to sympathize with me in it Allie has another now to occupy her attention May I tell it to you"

"Yes," she whispered softly "None can share your happiness and sympathize with you more freely than I Tell me all"

For a moment he was silent, only stretching out his hand to draw her down upon a seat beside him After a while he spoke, half dreamily and very gently

"I once believed," said he "that I could never find a woman whom I could love fully and truly—with such a love as I must cherish for the woman whom I would call my wife but I have found her, Nellie—(why do you tremble so?)—a sweet, purefaced little thing fresh and fragrant as a budding rose, gentle as the summer breezes, and gay and glad as the lark whose song she trills the whole day long Tell me that you rejoice in my happiness, Nellie—tell me that you will love my little wife that is to be—sweet Lily Walton"

Nellie's lips were rigid and ashen, and she rose up, quivering like an aspen

"Oh, I am ill!" she gasped "Take me into the house"

Edward May rose hastily and supported her with his arm, but she nearly repulsed him as she planted her foot firmly upon the gravel She had learned to love the man with all the hidden passion and fire of her strong nature, and now he told her he had won another, and that other was only a poor but beautiful governess in a rich man's family Oh, it was too much! He knew Nellie Raymond's weakness and he had punished her fearfully though he believed in his heart that she was incapable of deep feeling

Alice went to Nellie in answer to her brother's summons and, when every one was gone from the room she held out her arms to Alice white and stricken with an anguished moan—"Oh, Allie I gave him my whole heart and he loves another!"

Then she sank down pale and lifeless and it was many weeks ere Nellie Raymond woke to life and consciousness Then she was a changed, repentant woman but it was hard to feel the soft touch of a little hand, and the light form of Edward's wife bending so pityingly Oh, the punishment of her 'evil deeds' had come, and it was heavy and bitter

Nellie Raymond is Nellie Raymond still but she has grown into a calm, dignified, but lovely woman She can sympathize with the suffering, because she has suffered and strives by tenderness and love to others, to atone for the misery she wrought while yet in the heyday of her pride and selfish love for admiration

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,

Has been used with Great Success in Curing

DYSPEPSIA,

Affections of the Liver Dropsy Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils Scurvy the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous so well authenticated and of such peculiar character that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill The facts are tangible the witnesses accessible and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the Peruvian Syrup do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron without further oxidation has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica A A HAYES M D

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anders a physician and chemist of New York after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER

without a solvent This, considered impossible by the scientific world is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J R Chilton of this city, and Prof Booth, U S Mint Philadelphia The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly July 6, 1856, page 76)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms Consumption, Cancer Heart Liver and Kidney Diseases Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full strong and florid
